

Savo Soul chairs provide comfortable, flexible seating all day long

Good ergonomics are essential for sitting well. Savo's best-selling Savo Soul is a flexible, ergonomic office chair that immediately adapts to the body and provides support in every posture. Body and chair are in perfect harmony in a Savo Soul, allowing occupants to sit comfortably and vary their posture throughout the working day.

With their intuitive designs and top-notch ergonomics, Savo offers the most innovative chairs on the market. Savo Soul was created to be ergonomic without being complex, and to adapt to the occupant immediately. The chair offers an individual sitting experience and provides maximum comfort. The stylish, intuitive office chair was designed by Olle Lundberg. With logical, easily accessible settings, Savo Soul is easy to understand, goes well in many surroundings and meets many different needs. The chair has simple seat height, back height and seat depth adjustment and can also be fine tuned for a truly great sitting experience during long working days.

The Flexi Back function follows the body's movements automatically, even laterally, and keeps the back in an upright position. The function enables flexible sitting and not only provides support in every posture but also stimulates activity. Savo Soul also has a synchro mechanism that provides synchronized back support and seat movement for an extra smooth feel. Seatback resistance is set automatically, and the back can be tilted and locked at four different angles.

Savo Soul is available as a work chair, meeting chair and high chair in black or white versions, and is also available in other colours. The swivel base is available in black plastic, polished metal or black, white or grey painted aluminium. The back is available in mesh or covered in fabric or leather. The back is also available in three different heights. The high chair has an optional foot ring and reduced back angle. The meeting chair has fabric covered armrests or metal arm rests that add a more elegant style. As a classic office chair Savo Soul suits all kinds of offices, but it also looks good in conference rooms, meeting rooms and in activity-based workplaces with shared spaces.

Savo is a sustainable chair that can be updated over time. Its recyclable design allows parts to be replaced, repaired and recycled. The entire seat and back are replaced when changing fabrics. Savo Soul contains 56 per cent recycled material and 97 per cent of the material in chairs with mesh backs can be recovered to provide new material. Savo Soul is available in several Möbelfakta-labelled versions, and the mesh fabrics are OEKO-TEX® certified. As part of its ongoing sustainability efforts, Savo has updated the black version of Savo Soul by replacing virgin plastic with recycled plastic, which has resulted in a 43 per cent reduction in the chair's carbon dioxide emissions. Because Savo Soul is a big seller, it provides a significant environmental benefit by saving 660 tonnes of carbon dioxide every year, equivalent to 100 trips around the Earth by diesel car.

About Savo

Since its founding, Savo has pioneered the way modern work chairs look and function in Scandinavia. Chair production began in Norway back in 1945, but it was during the 1970s that Savo was established as a specialist in office seating. Savo drives the development of sustainable office chairs with the best user experience through innovative premium products with intuitive designs. Savo's motto is 'Pushing the Seating Experience' and it continues to challenge the standard for the office chairs of today and tomorrow.
